Cartagena is on the southern coast of Spain, one of the most popular tourist destinations in Europe. There are two docks used by cruise ships. The main (north) dock is 1000 feet from the tourist area. If your ship docks at the alternate dock on the south side of the harbor, there's a shuttle bus to the city.

Cartagena is pedestrian friendly. It's ideal for self-guided touring. Tourist sites are concentrated in a relatively small area. You can visit most sites by walking 7170 feet, 1.36 miles, round trip from the main (north) dock.

There are hills, but you'll be able to walk around them to avoid steep slopes and climbing stairs. Use the Panoramic Lift to ascend 150 feet to the top of Concepcion Hill, the highest hill in the city. People in wheelchairs can get around. There are ramps and lifts at most tourist sites.

Cartagena is an historic port city. Human habitation dates back to the Bronze Age, 3,000 years BC. Hannibal led his army and war-elephants from his home city of Cartagena across the Alps to fight the Romans. The Romans were victorious. Cartagena became an important, and prosperous Roman Colony in 54 BC.

GPS Coordinates

This guide includes GPS Coordinates for tourist sites and key locations. Open this port guide in one window on your computer and open Google Maps in a second window. Copy and paste the GPS coordinates into Google maps to find sites and get directions and time for travel by car, bus, walking, or bicycle. The coordinates can be used with any Google map format such as “map”, “satellite”, “earth”, and “terrain” views at any map scale.

These coordinates can also be used in hand-held or vehicle GPS devices. Note that these devices can accept different formats. It's important to set your device to accept data in this format:

Cruise Ship Dock Location

There are two docks used by cruise ships (map below)

The main (north) dock is the preferred location

GPS = N 37° 35' 43.79", W 0° 58' 56.78"

The tourist area begins 1000 feet north of the dock. Cartagena is pedestrian friendly. There are a few hills, but you can minimize climbing if you walk the right route and use the elevators.

The alternate (south) dock

GPS = N 37° 35′ 21.6″, W 00° 58′ 43.9″

It's too far to walk from this dock to the tourist sites. You'll need the shuttle bus to/from your ship.

Fort Christmas (Fuerte de Navidad)

GPS = N 37° 35' 8.23", W 0° 59' 8.22"

I have shown the fort on this map because it's the only tourist site south of the harbor. The fort has been a key part of the harbor defensive system since the 17th century. It can be reached by car or the catamaran tour boat, “Barco Turistico.” Admission is 3.50 euros. Hours are typically 11:00 to 14:00.

The Tourism Office recommends the boat tour with a stop at the Fort. Cost for the boat + fort = 8 euros.

For more guides, see www.TomsPortGuides.com
You'll see the lighthouse in front of Fort Christmas as your ship enters/leaves the harbor. (photo below)

Download the Tourist Map BEFORE you visit Cartagena.
It's an invaluable resource for planning your shore excursion. See http://www.cartagenaturismo.es/
Since the Tourism Office link to download the map might change or be broken, I have placed the map on my website. You can always download it from this link www.TomsPortGuides.com/CartagenaMap.pdf
The only thing missing from the map is a distance scale. I have added a distance scale, cropped the map to focus on the main tourist area, and added a walking route (map below).

Tourist Map Marked Up to Show Suggested Walking Route
NOTE: Cartagena is a pedestrian-friendly city. I show a suggested walking route on the previous page.

- My walking route goes left (west) from the cruise dock and turns right (north) on Calle Mayor, the main, marble-paved, pedestrian walkway through the tourist area.
- The walking route turns right (east) on Calle Honda to the Roman Forum, the Crafts Centre, Augusteum, and the House of Fortune.
- Then it turns right (south) on Gisbert to Castillo de la Concepcion where you take the Panoramic Lift to the top of the hill. When you return to the base of the lift, walk downhill (south) to the main street, Paseo de Alfonso XII, and turn right (west) to walk back to the dock.
- This walking route is 7170 feet (1.36 miles) round trip from/to the ship.

Walking Route from Dock to Calle Mayor (Google earth map below)

Walk 1000 feet north from the main (north) dock, cross Paseo de Alfonso XII at the traffic light, and turn left. You will pass a tourist information booth, taxi stands, a public bus stop, and the stop for the Tour Bus. Visit Tourist Information to get current tourist site open hours and travel tips. The schedules for open hours change! It's 860 feet to Calle Mayor. Calle Mayor is the main, marble-paved pedestrian street with gorgeous buildings and many shops, outside cafes, restaurants, banks, etc.

Tour Bus  (Bus Turistico)  GPS = N 37° 35' 52.83", W 0° 59' 3.20"

The tour bus is 7 euros and takes about 45 minutes. It makes stops at the Panoramic Lift and near the Punic Wall. The line for the bus was very long. We got there early and waited about 30 minutes.

A tour that will not fail to awaken your interest. A modern double-decker bus, equipped with audio guides in various languages, (Spanish, English, French And German) which enables you to visit the whole city and to enjoy every place of interest in complete comfort. We will take you from ancient Cartagena with its walls, buildings and archaeological remains to modernist Cartagena, in the heart of the historical and commercial centre of the city. You will also enjoy some marvelous views of the restored marine promenade.
Calle Mayor offers some interesting sights near the harbor. There’s a small park next to City Hall with a monument to the Heros de Santiago de Cuba and Cavite. There are several bronze statues, and the marble head of a man buried in the ground (photo right).

To the south, you'll see the dock, between two columns, for the tour boat (Barco Turistico).

Tour Boat (Barco Turistico) GPS = N 37° 35' 52.16", W 0° 59' 8.80"

Catamaran boats depart hourly beginning at 11:00. The ride is 60 minutes and costs 5.75 euros or 8 euros, including a walking tour of Fort Christmas (Fuerte de Navidad). See page 2 of this guide for information on the Fort.

From the sea, you get a completely different vision of Cartagena. Discover every corner of the city's natural harbour. Learn about the system of defensive fortifications -its wall, monuments, castles, forts, coastal batteries- as well as the stories and legends in its past, and the commercial and military role Cartagena has played in 3000 years of history. Walk trough all the maritime accidents in the dock shelter to enjoy all the port setting. A tourist walk suitable for all ages showing them the importance of Cartagena as a strategic location.

To the north, you'll see City Hall, also called Palacio Consistorial de Cartagena, a gorgeous triangular-shaped building. The entrance to the Roman Theatre Museum is across the street. (photo below)
The city we call Cartagena today, was called Carthago Nova when it became a Roman Colony in 54 BC. Two of the most important sites were the Roman Theatre and the Roman Forum. Ruins of these historic sites are along Calle Mayor. The Roman Theatre is across from City Hall. The Roman Forum is north of the City Hall on Calle Honda.

For a video, see http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aBViNQGeVmE&feature=youtu.be

Admission is 6 euros.

Hours are 10:00 to 14:00 Sunday, 10:00 to 18:00 Tuesday-Saturday from May 1 to October 30th.

There are escalators, elevators, and ramps, but you'll have to climb some steps if you wish to explore the Roman Theatre. It's possible to visit most of this site in a wheelchair using ramps and elevators.

There are many excellent statues, busts, columns, etc., on display in the museum (photo at right below)
Walk 1500 feet north on Calle Mayor, the main pedestrian street, to Calle Honda.

NOTE: As you walk north, you'll pass many ATM machines. Most of them are NOT at banks. Look for the words “Banco” or “Banesto”. On May 8, 2013, the non-bank ATM's were charging $ 1.37 per euro. The banks were charging $ 1.31 per euro.
Be sure to at least “window shop” at the stores. You have to stop at one of the cafes or restaurants for coffee, a chocolate drink, or some great Spanish food.

The intersection is easy to spot. There is a bank, Banesto, on the right side of the corner.

Neighborhood of the Roman Forum

GPS = N 37° 36' 6.58", W 0° 59' 9.44"

It is also called Barrio del Foro Romano and Cerro del Molinet Roman Ruins

Admission is 5 euros.
- July 1st to Sept 15th, seven days a week 10:00 to 20:00
- Sept 16th to June 30th Tuesday-Sunday 10:00 to 19:00

The site covers a fairly large area around Molinette hill. The two main Roman buildings were the thermal baths with a columned courtyard, and the atrium building used for religious banquets.

Spanish architecture firm Amann Cánovas Maruri (AMC) created a new structure that covers and protects the remains of a Roman assembly (thermal baths, forum and homes) in the archaeological site of Molinet Park in Cartagena, Spain (photo below).

The structure includes an elevated walkway parallel to the street, accessible for disabled visitors. It is a very light structure hanging from steel beams. Conceived as a glass box, with a faceted, partially visible geometry, it makes up the street facade and allows a view of the ruins from three meters high, allowing an overall vision of the Roman remains.

The photo above is taken from Molinette hill looking down to Calle Honda, which runs parallel to, and in front of, the buildings. The polycarbonate structure is impressive, but I don't like the fence around this site. Apparently, to prevent passers-by from seeing and photographing the ruins, there is a high, visual barrier fence. This is the type of fence used in the USA to hide ugly places. I believe the 2000-year old Roman ruins deserve a more attractive perimeter fence.

It's a 700 foot walk from Calle Mayor to Plaza San Francisco along Calle Honda (map below)
Crafts Centre (Cartagena Centro Para La Artesania)
GPS = N 37° 36' 6.45", W 0° 59' 7.07"

The Crafts Centre offers unique masterpieces of hand made products produced in the region. There was a wide selection of products at reasonable prices. I loved this store and highly recommend you visit it.

Hours: Monday to Saturday 10:00 to 14:00 and 17:00 to 20:30 Sundays closed

Walking Route to Additional Tourist Sites and Back to the Ship

The first part of my walking route has been along the pedestrian streets of Calle Mayor and Calle Honda. Plaza San Francisco is at the eastern end of Calle Honda. Be sure to stop for photos of the huge banyan trees.

Pedestrian streets end at the plaza. You are now walking on sidewalks next to vehicular traffic. The map below shows the suggested walking route to other tourist sites and back to the ship. The route A-B-C-D-E-F is 3610 feet, about 7/10ths of a mile. Google estimates 13 minutes to walk this distance. If you include the Punic Wall, it will take a bit more time.

This walking route is on level ground until you reach the Panoramic Lift (“D” on the map below). You are walking slightly downhill from points “D” to “E” on the map below.

I used Google Maps “Get Directions” with GPS coordinates for A-B-C-D-E-F to plot the route back to the ship.
Here are the GPS Coordinates to plot the route

A) Plaza San Francisco

B) Augusteum

C) House of Fortune (Casa de la Fortuna)

If you are visiting the Punic Wall, the location is

D) Panoramic Lift (Ascensor Panorámico)

These sites are next to the Panoramic Lift

Castillo de la Concepción

Shelter-Civil War Museum (Refugio-Museo de la Guerra Civil)

E) Intersection at Calle Pez & Paseo Alfonso XII

F) Paseo Alfonso XII crosswalk to cruise dock

Walking Route From Plaza San Francisco to Augusteum and House of Fortune

Note the photo of the banyan tree at Plaza San Francisco (below left on map)

B) Augusteum

GPS = N 37° 36’ 7.28", W 0° 58' 59.76"

Admission: 2.50 euros. There is no published schedule of open hours; check at the tourist office. Augusteum is the ruins of a temple for priests who worshiped Emperor Augustus. It's an important location from an historical standpoint, but there is not much to see. The tourism bureau cites the most important feature as display boards describing the ancient city, but those boards are only in Spanish.

Even though you may not be visiting the Augusteum, look for architectural details, monuments, statues, attractive historic buildings, and ruins to photograph as you walk the streets in this area.

C) House of Fortune (Casa de la Fortuna)
GPS = N 37° 36' 8.23", W 0° 58' 55.78"

The ruins are at Plaza de Risueno. Admission is 2.50 euros. Hours are typically 10:00 to 14:30
These are remains of a wealthy Roman merchant's home from the first-century BC. There are several rooms including a meeting room, dining room, food preparation area, and bedrooms. Exhibits include home and personal items such as pottery, coins, lamps, etc. The paintings and mosaics are impressive.

Punic Wall (C.I. de la Muralla Púnica)
GPS = N 37° 36' 15.16", W 0° 58' 40.83"

If you are visiting the Punic Wall, walk northeast on Calle San Diego as shown on the map on page 17 of this guide.
Admission: 3.50 euros  Hours: typically 10:00 to 19:00
These are remains of entrance wall to the city dating back to the third century BC. There are also remains of the funeral crypt with paintings of the “dance of death”.

Here are the coordinates to plot the walking route back to the ship (map below)

C) House of Fortune (Casa de la Fortuna)
GPS = N 37° 36' 8.23", W 0° 58' 55.78"

D) Panoramic Lift (Ascensor Panorámico)
GPS = N 37° 36' 0.57", W 0° 58' 50.77"

These sites are next to the Panoramic Lift

Castillo de la Concepción

Shelter-Civil War Museum (Refugio-Museo de la Guerra Civil)

E) Intersection at Calle Pez & Paseo Alfonso XII

GPS = N37° 35' 53.39", W0° 58' 47.00"

F) Paseo Alfonso XII crosswalk to cruise dock

GPS = N 37° 36' 0.66", W 0° 58' 55.15"

GPS = N37° 35' 53.05", W 0° 58' 56.77"
Walking Route Back to the Ship

The 150-foot high Panoramic Lift is next to several important sites. The tourist bus stops here to drop off/pick up passengers. You can also board public bus #8 to ride to Paseo Alfonso XII near point “F” on the map at left.

Castillo de la Concepción
This is the most popular tourist site. Typical hours are 10:00 to 19:00

Admission:
- Castillo + Panoramic lift = 4.25 euros
- Castillo only = 3.50 euros

Castillo de la Concepción is the best starting point to explore the city for an overview of 3,000 years of history.

The backdrop for the tour of history is the Spanish-Moorish fortress at Concepcion Hill, the highest hill to protect the city. This site was used for a Roman temple, a Muslim citadel, a medieval castle, and location of the siren warning of Civil War bombings. The top of the hill offers the best view of the city and the harbor. Using the panoramic lift avoids climbing 150 feet up to the hill.

Duck Pond (photo below)
Shelter-Civil War Museum  (Refugio-Museo de la Guerra Civil)  GPS = N 37° 36 '1", W 0° 58' 51"
Typical hours are 10:00 to 19:00  Admission: 3.50 euros  Access the museum via the Panoramic Lift.

Bomb shelters, with a capacity of 5500 people, were built in the hill during the civil war. Exhibits describe the problems during the war and emphasize peace as critical to coexistence.

The shelter museum is on Concepcion Hill.

Street Level Detail on Walking Route

You can preview your walk back to the ship from the Panoramic Lift on Google Maps.
- Enter the GPS coordinates for the Panoramic Lift N 37° 36' 0.57", W 0° 58' 50.77" in Google Maps.
- Drag the little yellow man icon onto the map at the point shown for these coordinates.
- The screen will split showing a street level photo on the top and the map below. Move the little yellow man icon around on the map to get the view you wish. This map below shows the Panoramic Lift on the right corner. The view is to the south on Calle Gisbert. You walk slightly downhill, under the bridge, and you will reach Paseo Alfonso XII where you turn right to walk back to the ship.

Google Street Level Photo Looking South from the Panoramic Lift
Buses in Cartagena

Cartagena buses are run by a private company called Alsa. Their website is www.alsa.es

NOTE: The buses do NOT run in the area of the tourist sites shown in this port guide.

If you are visiting the beaches or traveling outside the tourist areas commonly visited by passengers on cruise ships, you might have use for these buses. The only place I can envision that you might use a bus is between the Panoramic Lift and the cruise dock. Take Bus #8 at C/Gisbert next to the Panoramic Lift. The second stop is at Paseo Alfonso XII, across from the cruise ship dock. See the map on the next page.
You can download a high resolution pdf map showing the bus route and time schedule from this weblink http://www.cartagena.es/archivos/115-1502-DOC_FICHERO/autobuses.pdf

I have marked up the bus map below to show Bus #8 from the Panoramic Lift at C/Gisbert to the Cruise Ship Dock at Paseo Alfonso XII.
User Feedback Is Welcome

Goal

My guides are designed to help you plan a great cruise vacation by providing information such as where the ship docks, location of tourist sites, public transit, walking tour maps, things to see and do, travel issues unique to the port, etc. Knowledge of ports is important when planning shore excursions because you have to make many decisions and commitments long before your ship docks. I believe the information in this guide is accurate, however you are responsible to verify accuracy of the information that you use to plan your vacation.

Information on cruise ports frequently changes such as bus routes, admission fees to sites, rental car locations, etc. Cruise Critic is the best source for up-to-date, detailed information on travel details for shore excursions, reviews of cruise ships, etc. There are many knowledgeable people on Cruise Critic who are willing to share their expertise and travel experience. I highly recommend www.CruiseCritic.com; it's free to join.

Why feedback is important

User feedback helps me make corrections and improve the format and content in my quest to produce the “ultimate” port guides. I welcome offers to collaborate with me or provide materials for use in my guides.

PLEASE Help “spread the word” about my website

The only negative feedback I get is, “I wish I knew about your port guides before my vacation”. Please tell your friends and post a reference to my guides and website on the blogs. To receive email notification when new guides are available, send your email address to me at TomsPortGuides@gmail.com

Copyright Notice & Terms and Conditions for Use of My Guides

My port guides and everything on my website www.TomsPortGuides.com is copyrighted by Thomas Sheridan with all rights reserved, and protected by international copyright laws.

PERMITTED USE: Personal, non-commercial use of my port guides and/or material from my website.

I allow individuals to take my guides apart for personal, non-commercial use. Many cruisers carry a map or a few pages from my guide on a shore excursion. That's OK. I also allow people to post my guides on websites they set up for fellow travelers to share information on shore excursions such as the websites set up by Cruise Critic members for the Roll Calls. That's OK. My guides are for use and enjoyment of individual travelers.

PROHIBITED USE of my port guides and/or material from my website.

NO person, company, organization, website, etc. is permitted to use material from my website for a commercial purpose, to sell, require a membership to download my port guides, or use my copyrighted material for a commercial purpose.

NO person, company, organization, website, etc. is permitted to distribute excerpts from my guides or material from my website as electronic, digital, or paper copies. My Port Guides must be kept intact, as downloaded from my website, with this copyright notice.

NO Cruise Ship employee, representative, contractor, port lecturer, etc. is permitted to distribute excerpts from my guides or material from my website as electronic, digital or paper copies. My Port Guides must be kept intact, as downloaded from my website, with this copyright notice. A blatant example of violation of my copyright was a cruise ship docked in Copenhagen where the shore excursion desk personnel removed maps from my guide, removed my name as the copyright owner, and copied/distributed my maps.

Fortunately, a friend of mine on that ship complained to the purser and the ship stopped violating my copyright.
